DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to the Amendment and Remarks filed 3 October 2005, in which claims 1-5 were presented for examination.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-5 are allowed.

3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art of record does not teach or fairly suggest the claimed vehicle navigation system comprising, among other limitations: a first and second recording device, storing a first and second computer programs, respectively, an install module transferring data stored in the second recording device to the first recording device, wherein the install module operates concurrently with a second execution module executing the second computer program, wherein the first execution module is prohibited from operating during operation of the second execution module, and wherein during the operation of the install module, the second execution module executes the vehicle navigation using transferred data which are transferred from said second recording device and installed in the first recording device by the install module.

4. References made of record but not relied upon are considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure:

Meek et al., US Patent No. 6,121,924: Meek et al. teaches a system and method for updating geographic data for use by a navigation application program, wherein the navigation application program is stored on a memory storage device 16 (ROM), loaded for execution to memory 20 and uses geographic data stored on a storage medium (CD-ROM disc 22). When an updated geographic database is provided replacement routines (substitute portions of the native code of the navigation application program that are used to access the data in the updated geographic database) may be selectively loaded into memory during runtime as needed to perform specific navigation tasks, such as route calculation, map display, etc. (Column 17, lines 18-22). Meek et al. does not disclose or suggest a navigation application executed from a storage medium other than memory 20.

Hayashi et al., US Patent No. 6,144,318: Hayashi et al. teaches a vehicle navigation system including a first program stored on a non-volatile memory (flash memory 41), an information storage device (element 3, a CD-ROM) storing a second program and data for navigation, and an install module to transfer the stored data of the CD-ROM to the non-volatile memory. Hayashi et al. teaches wherein if the data on the CD-ROM is of a higher version than the data of the flash memory, the flash memory is cleared, the data from the CD-ROM is read and loaded onto the flash memory. The navigation system is then subsequently restarted with the updated data executed from the flash memory (Figure 16).

Morimoto et al., US Patent No. 6,067,500: Morimoto et al. teaches a vehicle navigation system that includes a program storage flash memory (element 41), a program loading means for loading an updated navigation program from an external storage device (element 3) to the flash memory when a newer version of the navigation data is detected. Morimoto et al. further teaches that when the newer version is detected the flash memory is cleared, reloaded and executed with the updated version (Figure 4).

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
